Lohmer Into Custody His Companions Fled-Said to Be an Ex-Convict.

Central Office Detectives Burke and O'Connor arraigned a tall, well-dresed man who gave his name as William Lohmer and address as Mills Hotel No. 2, before Magistrate Deuel in the Essex Market Court to-day.

The detectives arrested him in the belief that he is one of the gang of robbers who have recently been holding up and robbing persons in City Hall Park. Lohmer was with two other men in City Hall Park last night when he was arrested. His companions fied when they saw the detectives.

Lohmer's arrest came about from a description given to the police by John W. Indiden, of No. 38 Cumberland street, Brooklyn, who alleged that while he was going through the park on Aug. 15 three men attacked him and robbed him of $34 and his gold watch. He was knocked down and badly he was knocked down and badly beaten. In the struggle Indiden man-aged to get a good look at his as-saflants and Lohmer tallies with the description of one of them. Lohmer was held for examination. The detectives told Magistrate Deuel that Lohmer was an ex-convict and has served several terms of imprisonment for robbery.

The foregoing is a list of articles of jewelry which were found in the possession of a man the police call Henry F. Robinson, who is also known to them by the alias "Peanuts." His picture s said to be No. 5669 in the Rogues' Gallery in Police Headquarters.

The man was in a cell this morning, having been arrested at Broadway and Forty-seventh street by Central Office Detectives O'Rourke and Frazee on suspicion and taken to Police Headquar- to choke Mrs. Earlick while returning ters.

The prisoner was well dressed. He declined to give any information about himself or where he got the jewelry. The articles were contained in a much-solled chamois bag and are, the police say, worth $5,000. A general alarm has been sent out in the hope that somebody who has been robbed will claim the jewelry.

Long Island City Leader a Victor When There Was $40,000 Patronage Against Him.

By the expenditure of only $5, all of which went for postage, James P. Hicks, of Long Island City, carried his election district despite the fact that there live in the territory followers of Borough President Cassidy whose aggregate salaries are $40,000 a year.

Hicks, who is only thirty-eight years old, is a Croker man and has carried the district, which is the Third, for the last five years. Determined that he should not do it again, Cassidy threw every bit of patronage possible into the Jewels Is Silent About the district. He gave out official posi-Himself and as to Where He tions lavishly and in every possible way urged his lieutenants to get the votes out.

The official court shows that they needed one more ballot to tie and two more to win. Hicks won the day by one vote, the count being 114 for him and 113 for the Cassidy contingent. The Cassidy men had all the machinery of a perfect organization in their favor. They won in every other district, but with all this they were unable to defeat a young man who had spent only $5 and whose capital consisted almost entirely of his personal

Mrs. Marza Pabst had to appeal to the police for protection from the attentions of Charles Earlick, a sweet heart of her youth in Berlin, Earlick was to-day fined $5 by Magistrate Flam-mer, in the Jefferson Market Court. Earlick lives at No. 340 West Forty-first street, and Mrs. Pabst at No. 210 East Twenty-fifth street. Earlick and Mrs. Pabst attended the same school in Berlin fifteen years ago. They became sweethearts, but at the time when there was talg of a wedding Earlick was claimed by the army. The young man was afterward sent to Africa and then to South America. Murza married and came to the United States. For many years she had heard nothing of Earlich. A year ago while visiting her parents in Berlin Earlich returned from the campaign in China. According to Mrs. Pabst the meeting was an embarrassing one. Earlich followed Mrs. Pabst everywhere. She returned to this city. Earlich came here also. She says he attacked her on the street several times.

Mrs. Pabst last night appealed to the police of the West Thirtleth street station. The police say Earlick attempted home from a theatre. When Earlick was arraigned to-day Mrs. Pabst told the Magistrate that her husband was ill in the South and asked that Earlick be put under bonds to keep the peace. Magistrate Flamer fined Earlick $5 af ter denouncing his conduct.
